Naomi is a member of the firm's General Liability and Workers' Compensation practices. She graduated from The University of South Florida in Tampa with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology. She then received her Juris Doctorate from Florida Coastal School of Law in Jacksonville, FL. During law school, she was elected by her peers to be a Legislator in the Student Bar Association where she was responsible for Overseeing the Health & Wellness Committee. In law school, she was qualified to practice as a Certified Legal Intern where she worked for the Office of Criminal Conflict and Civil Regional Counsel as well as the Florida Department of Children and Families. She was recognized with Honors at graduation for contributing more than 300 pro-bono hours to the legal community. After law school, she took a job as a prosecutor in the First Judicial Circuit in Pensacola, FL, where she gained valuable practical litigation experience. Just before she joined Conroy Simberg she was working at a small, private insurance defense firm in Georgia focusing primarily on Workers' Compensation.
