Representative Experience:

- Prevailed with a complete defense verdict after a three-week non-jury trial in Miami-Dade County in a construction defect/negligence claim with damages of over $161 million in property damage and lost profits arising from a 2017 arc fire at the iconic Deauville Hotel in Miami Beach. We represented a defendant/cross defendant in a negligence case brought by the owners of the hotel, which claimed, our client, an electrical subcontractor, allegedly caused an overcurrent in the hotel's electrical system. The hotel has since been demolished. After a three week trial involving multiple electrical engineers and other experts, the Court, as the finder of fact, found that our client was not negligent and found there was no causal link between any activities of the defense side and the arc fire.
- Obtained a defense verdict in a coverage action with a finding of no coverage despite the Carrier first having found coverage during its claim investigation and paid the insured for repairs to his kitchen with the insured filing a supplemental claim for over $150,000.00, exclusive of fees for tear out of his entire cast iron plumbing system and repairs to his entire home. After litigation ensued, new facts came out on the original cause of loss which would require the Carrier to reverse its coverage position and argue no covered cause of loss. At trial the Plaintiff argued that the Carrier already confirmed coverage and thus this was simply a denial of a supplemental claim. After a four day jury trial the jury came back and found coverage should never have been afforded.

- Obtained a defense verdict in a coverage action after a five-day live jury trial in Lee County, Florida, also one of the first live cases tried since the start of covid. The Case involved a Hurricane Irma claim with an Assignment of Benefits from a roofing contractor who had hundreds of AOBs throughout the State of Florida. The Plaintiff, SFR Services LLC, sought approximately $122,000.00 in damages to replace the insureds' tile roof, claiming Hurricane Irma caused damages throughout the roof including 50-60% of the roof "lifting and moving" due to the storm. The trial involved competing experts, with the plaintiff's expert being permitted to testify despite performing his first inspection the night before live trial testimony and only being listed days before trial was to begin.
