Transportation

With more than 45 years of experience, the legal team at Conroy Simberg is well recognized for their ability to deliver comprehensive legal services to the transportation industry. Our firm is aware of the unique business and legal challenges facing interstate and intrastate transportation companies. We have an extensive understanding of the federal and state laws regulating the industry, including the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration Rules and Regulations (FMCSR). Our attorneys are actively involved in the Trucking Insurance Defense Association (TIDA) and stay current with both changes in the law and emerging industry trends that may impact our transportation industry clients.

Comprehensive Services

Conroy Simberg represents a diverse range of transportation industry clients, including large self-insured commercial trucking companies and insurance carriers operating in Florida and across the nation. Our lawyers are experienced in defending clients facing a broad scope of legal claims and losses, including:

- Personal injury and wrongful death claims stemming from trucking accidents
- Cargo loss
- Crane and rigging litigation
- Property damage
- Insurance coverage issues
- Environmental claims
- Compliance with federal and state transportation regulations
- Workers' compensation claims
- Employment law disputes

In addition to defending trucking and transportation industry clients, our firm counsels and represents clients in all types of automotive and motorized vehicle liability claims. When defending against a liability action involving a transportation company, our attorneys act quickly to investigate the claim and reconstruct the accident to determine the exact cause and extent of any injuries. When advisable, they also consult with a team of qualified medical, engineering and industry experts to analyze and evaluate the case.

Strong Client Relationships

With attorneys working collectively across a broad spectrum practice areas, Conroy Simberg is well situated to assist clients with all types of complex and sophisticated legal matters. We know that legal actions can be expensive and highly disruptive for our transportation industry clients. In each case that we handle our lawyers strive to establish strong and lasting relationships with our clients. We take the time to understand our clients' business operations so that they can develop and implement legal plans and approaches that match their specific needs.

We are proud of the reputation we have built for providing sound legal advice, aggressive advocacy and highly attentive client service to companies operating throughout the transportation industry. We understand the financial pressures transportation companies face on a day-to-day basis and use our resources and legal background to swiftly resolve their legal issues, while minimizing costs and potential liability.